Whole-Body Harmonic Vibration

📖 What is whole-body harmonic vibration?

Through mechanical force, the whole body vertical vibrations generate a force against the gravity. Once the power is gone, humans are drawn back to the ground. Applying this kind of mechanism over and over again, it yields a force of impact of going up and down rapidly. This will stimulate the whole musculoskeletal nervous system.

📖 Why does it matter?

Not only has whole-body vibration proved the fact that it can prevent osteoporosis, increase the muscle strength and coordination, but also found that it can help multiple diseases such as spinal cord injury, stroke, cerebral palsy, and Parkinson's disease, etc.

Vertical vibration has expanded beyond the field of sports and became a non-pharmaceutical and non-invasive treatment in medical science. It is now called the "Vibration Therapy" or "Dynamic Motion Therapy."

Who needs this?

- 1) Increase bone density and prevent osteoporosis
- 2) Enhanced joint and muscle movement
- 3) Increase muscle balance and coordination
- 4) Ease the pain of lower back
- 5) Prevent from falling
- 6) Improve the life quality for the elder
- 7) Improve cardiovascular function
- 8) Decrease the body fat
- 9) Lower the blood sugar or prevent diabetes
- 10) Help the growth of teenagers
- 11) Rehabilitation for stroke patients
- 12) Help recover from arthritis and bone operations
- 13) Improve fibromyalgia
- 14) Improve chronic fatigue
- 15) Improvement of Parkinson's disease
- 16) Rehabilitation for patients with spinal cord injury
- 17) Rehabilitation for cerebral palsy
- 18) Rehabilitation for patients with multiple sclerosis
- 19) Improvement of chronic obstructive pulmonary disease
- 20) Rehabilitation for bedridden patients
- 21) Improvement of chronic constipation
- 22) Improvement of teenagers' exercise ability
- 23) Training athletes

Whole-Body Vibration History

It takes more than 50 years to become one

Now it is Your Chance to Own One

In 2005, Vital Energy developed the world's first vertical vibration health care product. We are working hard to deliver this products to everyone's home

Then Move on to Medical Area

Whole body vibration were expanded to be used for medical institution, including rehabilitation, sports sciences and health care

And Athlete Training Purposes

Athlete started to use vibration to train themselves to enhance their performance

First Introduced for astronauts

The modern whole body vertical vibration machine is the product of space competition between the United States and the Soviet Union. Scientists from Soviet Union invented whole body vibration to train their astronauts to prevent losing their bone density
